

Before proceeding further, it will be helpful if you _____ how a trial is conducted. At the beginning of the trial, the attorneys will have an opportunity, if they wish, to make an _____ statement.

The opening statement gives the _____ a chance to tell you what evidence they believe will be presented during the _____. What the lawyers say is not evidence. Following the opening statements, witnesses will be called to _____ under oath. Documents and other Exhibits also may be produced as _____.

After the evidence has been presented, the attorneys will have an opportunity to make their _____ argument. Following the arguments by the attorneys, the _____ will instruct you on the _____ applicable to this case. After the instructions are given, then you'll retire to consider your _____; all, except one of you ~ one of you is the _____. I find if I keep the alternate a secret during the trial, then the alternate will stay awake; otherwise, they tend to fall _____ on me. So one of you is the alternate, and that person will not be able to decide the verdict with the other _____.

These instructions I'm about to give to you are general _____. Some of this stuff will probably never happen in this case, but just in case it does, you need to know what to do. First of all, you should not form any definite or fixed _____ on the merits of this case until you've heard all of the _____, the argument of the lawyers and the instructions on the _____ by the _____.

Before proceeding further, it will be helpful if you understand how a trial is conducted. At the beginning of the trial, the attorneys will have an opportunity, if they wish, to make an opening statement.

The opening statement gives the attorneys a chance to tell you what evidence they believe will be presented during the trial. What the lawyers say is not evidence. Following the opening statements, witnesses will be called to testify under oath. Documents and other Exhibits also may be produced as evidence.

After the evidence has been presented, the attorneys will have an opportunity to make their closing argument. Following the arguments by the attorneys, the Court will instruct you on the law applicable to this case. After the instructions are given, then you'll retire to consider your verdict; all, except one of you ~ one of you is the alternate. I find if I keep the alternate a secret during the trial, then the alternate will stay awake; otherwise, they tend to fall asleep on me. So one of you is the alternate, and that person will not be able to decide the verdict with the other jurors.

These instructions I'm about to give to you are general instructions. Some of this stuff will probably never happen in this case, but just in case it does, you need to know what to do. First of all, you should not form any definite or fixed opinion on the merits of this case until you've heard all of the evidence, the argument of the lawyers and the instructions on the law by the judge.

